PROPOSALS

For Publishing, by Subscription,

THE COMPLETE WORKS OF

SIR WALTER SCOTT:

With a Biography: being the first American (and only) edition which contains the Author's last additions and illustrations, arranged upon their respective pages.

A COMPLETE and uniform edition of the various productions of the great 'Minstrel of the North,' is a desideratum with the American public. No library is complete without them, and no edition extant is sufficiently compact for such a repository; while the endless number of editions, without any uniformity in size, heretofore published, besides being exceedingly cumbrous, are far too voluminous and expensive to be within the reach of the great majority of readers. The undersigned therefore announce, that they have now in press, and will issue, an edition of the Works of Sir Walter Scott, which will embrace all his Poems, Novels, Histories, Biographies, and Fugitive Compositions, as well as the Biography and Private Correspondence, now in the course of publication in England, under the superintendence of Mr. Lockhart.

1st. In Parts: each Part embracing as much matter as is contained in two volumes of the present editions of the Waverley Novels, which will be put at the unprecedented low price of THIRTY SEVEN AND A HALF CENTS.

2d. Two parts will appear each month; but should the publishers find the work to meet the patronage they anticipate, FOUR PARTS will be issued monthly.

3d. The whole will be completed in seven volumes, or forty eight parts.

The paper on which the above is now printing, has been made expressly for the purpose; the present parts may, therefore, be considered a fair specimen, in every respect, of the whole work; but, should dissatisfaction arise with any subscriber, owing to an inferior article being offered, he may discontinue at any time, and have the amount paid returned.

Note.—The publication of the first volume is deferred until the receipt of the Biography, Private Correspondence, and the New Edition of the Author's Poetical Works, with 'contemporary criticism—various readings—and correspondence with some of the most eminent persons of the time when the Poems first appeared,' now in the course of publication in England.

Volume I will be ornamented with an excellent Portrait of Sir Walter Scott.

DAILY PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON, OCT. 10, 1833.

☞ MAIL.—Again we have no papers east of Harrisburgh and Gettysburgh.—Is there no remedy for this irregular irregularity.

OUR RIVERS.—The rain of Monday last has swelled the river some, though not so much as was expected. The steam boat, Olive Branch, departed this day. We have had some rain, to day, with every appearance of its continuance; and have reason to expect that navigation will shortly commence, to continue until closed by the ice.

☞ FIRE.—We have just heard that the stable of Robert Stewart, on the top of Turtle Creek Hill, with six or nine stage horses in it, was burnt, last night.—The fire is asserted to have been spontaneous—A large quantity of manure had been collected against one side of the stable, which a man had commenced digging and carrying away, yesterday; and the admission of the air is alleged to have caused the combustion.

THE REMOVAL OF THE DEPOSITS.—Even the Harrisburgh Chronicle, which had previously applauded every previous act of General Jackson, condemns the removal of the deposits as a high-handed and arbitrary measure. We are gratified to perceive that there is some limit to the submissiveness of some of the Jackson papers. If there is any actual, effective limit to the power of President Jackson, we would like to know it.

The question is no longer—how far will the constitution permit him to go, but how far beyond the constitution can he go with the approbation of his partisans. The Harrisburgh Chronicle has expressed the opinion of its editor, one of the oldest and most zealous advocates of the President.

The following is the aggregate of votes given in the county, except the four districts not yet heard from.

Combination—Hilands,	2,596;
Jas. Scott,	2,480;
Robinson,	2,415;
Kerr,	2,374;
		9,865.
Anti Masonic—Bayne,	2,124;
Irwin,	2,123;
Scott,	2,120;
Riddle,	1,960—	8,331
		4) 1,534
Average majority,		383

The remaining districts will not vary this average materially.

ELECTION.—Last year there were upwards of 6,600 votes polled in Allegheny county. This year, in all the election districts except four, viz: Findley, Moon, East and West Deer; the number of votes polled is about 4,500. Last year these four districts polled 684 votes. The probability then is, that the whole number of votes polled on Tuesday last does not exceed 5,000, leaving 1,600 votes unpolled, independent of any increase. So that only about two thirds of the whole number of votes were given in. Allegheny and Elizabeth township being excited by special interests, gave large votes.

THE NATIONAL REPUBLICANS.—This party, before the election, asserted that they held the control of the election in their hands. The result has proved that this assertion was well founded. The average majority for the combination is about three hundred and eighty, and this party gave that ticket more than four hundred votes.

Extract of a letter, dated

"BEAVER, Oct. 9, 1833.

"Scroggs, Lacock, Clarke, &c., are all elected. We have carried the whole ticket. Jacksonism has met a complete Waterloo defeat. Pollock is the highest on their side, but falls behind Clarke. Lacock considerable ahead."

For the Gazette.

MR. CRAIG—I have received from Jos. Anderson, Esq., Comptroller of the Treasury, a letter which may be of much importance to our importing Merchants, as it explains the manner of removing the present difficulties, when the river is too low for a Steam Boat to come up to this port from New Orleans, with merchandise which may have been bonded at this office.

Will you have the kindness to publish this letter in your paper, for the information of our Merchants.

Yours, respectfully,

Custom House, Pittsburgh,
October 10th, 1833.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
Comptroller's Office,
Oct. 4th, 1833.

SIR—Your letter of the 28th ultimo, has been received. You submit the question, whether goods bonded for, and owned by, persons in Pittsburgh, on being conveyed in boats from New Orleans, which, in consequence of the lowness of the water, will not be able to proceed the whole way to Pittsburgh, may be landed at Louisville or Cincinnati, and transferred to smaller sized boats, on a regular protest being made before a notary public that such a course became absolutely necessary, arising from the circumstances stated.

You were apprised, by my letter to you of the 21st April, 1831, that the act of 2d March, 1831, made no provision for a transfer of the goods from one boat to another; but appeared to require that the boat, in which they were placed at New Orleans, should deliver them at the port of destination.

The course now proposed, however, places the matter in a different point of view, and if the following additional regulations, with the protest alluded to, be complied with, it appears to me that the revenue will be so satisfactorily secured, that a transfer of the kind, in such cases, might be permitted to be made.

When a boat, on arriving at Louisville or Cincinnati, with goods from New Orleans, is found either to be so much injured, or in consequence of the lowness of the water, is unable to proceed further, if a regular report thereof be made to the Surveyor of the port, and he be satisfied that in order to convey the goods to Pittsburgh, a transfer of them into another boat, or boats, is absolutely necessary, such transfer may be made, under the superintedence of a person to be appointed by the Surveyor for that purpose, who is to inspect the packages, and see that they correspond with the specification of them in the verified manifest of the cargo.

The person so appointed, should take the oath required by law, of Inspectors of the Customs.

After the transfer is completed, the Inspector should make a report of his proceedings to the Surveyor; and in case of discovering any disagreement between the packages and the manifest, he should make a special report thereof, and the Surveyor should thereupon take such measures as the nature of the case would seem to require.

In order that you may be satisfied that the transfer was regularly made, an endorsement to that effect should be made on the manifest, by the Surveyor of the port where it may have taken place.

Respectfully,
JOSEPH ANDERSON,
EDWARD JONES, Esq. Comptroller.

N. B. Our city editors, who can make it convenient to give this communication one insertion in their papers, will, no doubt, oblige many of their subscribers.

Extract of a letter, dated

"EBENSBURG, OCT. 9, 1833.

"Many of the questions which you have propounded, you will recollect, relate to the future, and have to be answered altogether upon judgment. Now as no man, you know, is considered a prophet in his own country, my anticipations on this point or that point, must be the result of individual opinion, and go for just what they are worth. The value to be ascertained from the reasons assigned.

When that portion of the Pennsylvania Improvements, termed the "main line," extending from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, is completed, the length of it will be about 396 miles, as thus—

From Philadelphia to Columbia, by rail way,	86 1-2 m's.
From Columbia to Hollidaysburg, by canal,	175
From Hollidaysburg to Johnstown, by rail way,	36 1-2
From Johnstown to Pittsburgh, by canal,	104
	396 miles.

Assuming it as a fact, then, (which I deem very probable) that the rates of toll upon the Columbia and Portage rail ways will be made to correspond with those upon the canal, the price of transportation for a ton of dry goods, from Philadelphia to Pittsburgh, for toll alone, will be $9 52—add to this, the boatman's charge for freight, which may be set down at $10 48, and the whole cost of carriage will be one cent per pound, or $20 per ton. The cost of transportation, however, must and will be regulated entirely by competition in the carrying trade—and I do not doubt but goods will be carried through for 87 1-2 cents per 100 pounds. The present price, by way of the Union Canal, and turnpike across the Allegheny, is from 35 to 40 dollars per 2000 pounds.

The distance from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia, via the Portage, and Pennsylvania, Union, and Schuylkill canals, is 443 1-2 miles—as thus—

By Canal, &c., to Middletown,	296 1-2 miles.
" Union Canal,	79
" Schuylkill Canal,	68
	443 1-2 miles.

The toll on the Union Canal is $1 60 per ton—on the Schuylkill, about $1 36, and on the Pennsylvania Canal, $7 15—making together throughout by their canals, $10 11 c. The differences, therefore, between the tolls that will possibly be charged on the main line, and those now charged in the present mode of conveyance, would be 59 cents in favor of the state improvements. The difference in the distance, between the two routs, is 47 1-2 miles. That is, it is 47 1-2 miles further to go by Reading than by Columbia.

The time that will probably be required to go from Philadelphia to Middletown, by way of the Railroad and Canals, 99 1-2 miles, will be less than 24 hours, including all time for transferring the cargoes from the cars to the boats; whilst the time necessary to convey a boat from and to the same point, by the Schuylkill and Union Canals, 147 miles, is about 70 hours. The vast difference here as to time, does not rise from the excess of distance alone, but from a difference in the facility of going over the same space. 80 1-2 miles of one rout is Railway, and 19 miles Canal, with about 8 Locks; whilst the whole of the other rout is Canal and Slackwater, with about 130 Locks.—Hence the difference in the time required for lockage between the two routs, assuming 4 minutes as the period for passing a boat, will be 8 hours, 8 minutes, in favor of the Columbia rout.

Upon the completion of the main line, goods may be taken from the depots, in Broad street, Philadelphia, and delivered, by regular lines, in Pittsburgh, in 192 hours, or 8 days, and this is allowing them to go at a rate but little over two miles an hour.

By the present mode of transportation, goods ought to be delivered in Pittsburgh in 12 or 14 days—but they are often 20 days on the way.—This, however, does not always arise from inattention on the part of the Boatmen. The difficulty in getting the means of transportation across the mountain, is frequently the cause of great delays. The wagoners have a strong antipathy to the Railroad and Canals, and would rather haul Iron for something less, than encourage a system which must ultimately drive them from the road.

Now, notwithstanding the difference in the tolls and distance between the Union Canal and the Columbia rout, the former will always draw a considerable portion of the carrying trade from the latter. Much of those heavy and unwieldy articles, such as Tobacco, Gypsum, Coal, Salt, Lumber, Liquors, in hhds., &c., will go by the Canal, because there is no transhipment, and because many of the freighters, who carry on their own account, will have no cars, nor any connection with regular lines. All the lighter articles, such as Dry Goods, and generally all kinds of Merchandise, and many of the agricultural products, especially Flour, will take the Railroad, because of the rapidity of transition, and because of the facilities of the Railway to be laid from Broad via South street, to the Delaware, which will afford the western products a cheap method of getting to the wharves.

It may be possible that the Board of Canal Commissioners will regulate the tolls on the Railway, so that they will exceed those on the Canal. This measure, however, I think, would be injudicious, as regards the Columbia line, inasmuch as it would give the Union and Schuylkill Canals a great advantage, and bring them into a dangerous competition. Suppose the Railways to be unconnected with any other improvement, but acting merely as a means of conveyance between two points, the toll that ought to be charged upon them should be about 4 or 4 1-2 cents per ton, per mile. If it should be necessary to increase the tolls on the Railway, in order to cover, in some measure, the excess of expenditure made upon them over Canals, it would be better to distribute the required increase throughout the whole line. This would answer a better purpose, and be, by far, the most convenient.

Great exertions are making to have a single track of the Columbia Rail road laid by the month of December, I doubt much whether it can be done. The viaduct across the Schuylkill is rather backward, and without its completion, the road will be of little use.

The portage is in a fair way, and I hope to have the pleasure of passing over it with a train of cars in a few weeks. We have been very unfortunate with our iron. A large portion of that lost off Cape Henlopen, has not yet been supplied, and any delay which may occur with us, will be owing to that circumstance. But, nil desperandum, the Iron will come, and if God's willing, and the weather's fair, I can assure our friends that we will open the campaign, in form, in the spring, with steam hissing, cars rattling, horses smoking, and nine cheers from honest hearts, for good old Pennsylvania."

The indifference with which obdurate criminals receive punishment, has been lamentably evidenced in too many instances; and among others, may be cited that wherein a freebooter said to a fellow sufferer on the wheel—"Why do you make all this noise?" Did you not know that in our profession we were subject to one malady more than the rest of the world?

Perhaps this nonchalance has originated in most instances from the uncertainty of the penal fate awarded by law to criminals—who seem to fancy themselves secure while there is any chance of escape. The chance of the risk is reduced even to less than what is voluntarily incurred in many pursuits of life. Present enjoyment being certain overcomes the fear of future punishment uncertain—and this feeling operates equally on those who follow criminal, as those who follow virtuous and legal pursuits: the motives only differ in the tendency of their impulses. This reckless contempt of danger has been happily depicted by Byron, in Bertram, his beau ideal of a ferocious pirate:

Inur'd to danger's direst form,
Tornado and earthquake, flood and storm;
Death hath he seen by sudden blow,
By wasting plague, by torture slow;
By mine or breach, by steel or ball—
Knew all his shapes, and scorn'd them all.

[The editor of the Philadelphia Sentinel was not a vigilant watchman when he penned the above paragraph. The quotation is not from Byron, but from Scott's admirable poem, Rokeby.]

From the Harrisburg Chronicle, October 7.

REMOVAL OF THE DEPOSITS.

This subject occupies a large share of attention in the commercial towns, where the measure will have immediate effect upon the moneyed and trading interests, and after the elections are over it will no doubt be discussed throughout the country. It is officially known that Gen. Jackson and two of the heads of departments thought it expedient immediately to remove the Deposits, and that three other heads of Departments considered it inexpedient to do so. The reasons of the President are before the public, but nothing has transpired from which the reasons on the opposite side of the question can be even guessed. In his state of things, it may not be amiss to look at the merits of a question that has been raised with regard to the power of the President in the case, and to this end we copy an article from the Cincinnati Gazette, and one from the Washington Globe, as embodying the arguments against, and in support of the exercise of power on the part of the President.—These articles are both well worth particular attention.—They may be found on the opposite page. Had these doctrines of the Globe been advanced during the Presidency of John Quincy Adams, we should have called them High Prerogative Doctrines; and as it is certain that the people of the United States will have the services of General Jackson as President but a little more than three years, and as it is not probable that all his successors in office will be inspired by the same pure patriotism that has distinguished him in all stations and under all circumstances, but on the contrary past history and recent experience teaching that unworthy men do sometimes attain the highest stations, we protest against these doctrines now, least they be quoted for a precedent hereafter.

Our idea of the scheme of the constitution is that the appointing power was conferred on the President for the sake of convenience, and in order that the Chief Magistrate, elected by the people, should fill the Departments with men entertaining the same views with himself and the majority that elected him, in relation to certain general principles of government and measures of policy. A man appointed to the head of one of the Departments, who would find himself under the necessity of opposing the general policy of the administration, would be bound in honor to resign at once. The officer, however, who is heartily a supporter of the general policy of the administration, ought to be perfectly free to discharge specific duties imposed upon him by acts of Congress.

The Constitution of Pennsylvania confers the appointing power upon the Governor, and declares that "He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed," in the same terms that the same power is conferred and the same care enjoined on the President by the constitution of the U. S. In the time of Gov. M'Kean, whose patriotism and honesty were as undoubted as his constitutional knowledge was profound, but, who, nevertheless, was rather ultra in his opinions of the Executive prerogative, there were some exertions of authority at which the Democrats of that day took fire; but Gov. M'Kean never claimed as much for himself as the Globe claims for the President. It is not necessary to mention the particular instances in which the exercise of Executive power, by Governor M'Kean, was resisted: it is sufficient to say that such resistance was made, and when the Democrats, who made it, obtained an overwhelming majority for Governor, and in both branches of the Legislature, they substantially effected the Reform that they had promised when in the minority.—The political revolution of 1808 was followed in 1809 and 1811 by acts containing the following provisions:

"The Secretary of the Land Office and Surveyor General shall, from and after the tenth day of May next, be appointed by the Governor for three years; but they shall, nevertheless, be removed from affice by the Governor, on the address of both houses of the Legislature."—Act of March 29, 1809.

In like manner the Auditor General was made independent of the Governor, by act of March 30, 1811.

"The Auditor General shall be appointed and commissioned for three years, but shall be removed from office by the Governor, on the address of both houses of the Legislature."

This is the Democratic construction of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and, in our opinion, the same construction ought to obtain with regard to the Constitution of the United States. It is easy to show, that by the construction of the Globe, the President is clothed with all the Executive power, and two thirds of the Legislative power of the government.

From the Cincinnati Gazette.

THE DEPARTMENTS.

An opinion has obtained through the country, that the several departments are all organized in the same manner, and subjected all alike to the control of the President. This is not the fact.—On the contrary, the Treasury is created, by law, an independent Department. This may be placed beyond dispute, by reference to the different laws establishing the different Departments.

The Department of State was first established, by the name of the Department of Foreign Affairs. We subjoin two extracts from the first section, making a proper alteration in the name.

"There shall be an Executive Department, denominated the Department of State; and a principal officer therein called the Secretary of State; who shall perform such duties as shall be enjoined on, or entrusted to, him by the President," &c., and who shall " conduct the business of this Department, in such manner as the President shall, from time to time, order and instruct."

The Department of War was next established, in the following terms:

" There shall be an Executive Department to be denominated the Department of War; and there shall be a principal officer therein, to be called the Secretary for the Department of War, who shall perform and execute such duties as shall, from time to time, be enjoined on, or entrusted to, him by the President of the United States," &c.—" and furthermore, that he, the said principal officer, shall conduct the business of said Department in such manner as the President of the United States shall, from time to time, order and instruct."

The same first Congress established the Treasury Department, but, in doing so, employed a very different phraseology. The Departments of State and of War are denominated "EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENTS;" and subjected by Congress, in terms, to the control of the President. The treasury is created an independent Department, and no control over it is given to the Executive. The following extracts from the law show this:

'1. That there shall be a Department of Treasury, in which shall be the following officers, viz: a Secretary of the Treasury, to be deemed head of the department, a Comptroller, an Auditor, a Treasurer, a Register, and an assistant Secretary of the Treasury, which Assistant shall be appointed by the said Secretary."

2. 'That it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Treasury, to digest and prepare plans for the improvement and management of the revenue, and for the support of public credit; to prepare and report estimates of the public revenue and the public expenditures; to superintend the collection of the public revenue; and to decide on the form of keeping, and stating and making returns, and to grant, under the limitations herein established, or to be hereafter provided, all warrants for moneys to be issued from the Treasury, in pursuance of appropriations by law; to execute such services relative to the sale of lands belonging to the U. States, as may be by law required of him; to make reports, and give information to either branch of the Legislature, in person or by writing (as he may be required) respecting all matters referred to him by the Senate or House of Representatives, or which shall appertain to his office, and generally to perform all such services relative to the finances as he shall be directed to perform.'

Sections 3, 4, 5, 6, define the duties of the comptroller, Treasurer, Auditor, and Register.

Sec. 7. 'That whenever the Secretary shall be removed from office by the President, or in any other case of vacancy in the office of Secretary, the assistant shall, during the vacancy, have the charge and custody of the records, &c.'

The Navy Department was established in 1798, and in similar terms to those of State and War, and in the same manner subjected to the control of the President.

It is manifest from the extracts here given, that those who organized the Government deliberately separated its money affairs from the action of the President and placed them under the direction of an independent Department. These men were statesmen and patriots, and they wisely anticipated the danger of placing the sword and the purse in the same hands.—It is true the natural tendency of power to extend its influences has been felt in this case.

The original intervention of the laws has been overlooked, and the Treasury has become to be regarded as an EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, over which the President may assume a control. The inexpediency of this begins to be felt, and its illegality will soon be understood. The subject is not one to be regarded with the passion of party. It ought to be examined in an independent spirit, and that decision formed which is obviously best for the country.

Spain.—If the news of Ferdinand's death is true, it may lead to great convulsions in that Kingdom, which will, if not checked in time, involve the whole continent of Europe in war. The King of the French has already ordered an army of observation on the frontiers; and the late revolution in Portugal, and dethronement of Don Miguel, will not add to the general tranquillity. Don Carlos will no doubt attempt to claim the throne of his brother, on the ground that the Salique law is in force, and, therefore, his daughter cannot wear the crown. This being the case in France, the principal may be sustained by that government. Spain, however, is in poor condition; the army is badly organized and paid; there is no navy—their resources from South America are lost, and the revenue of Cuba is all that is left, together with internal taxation, to support a government loosely administered, and an extravagant priesthood.—There is no part of Europe so excellent in climate, and so fruitful in soil as Spain; but, while other countries are on the rapid march of civilization and improvement, Spain is immoveable—having less enterprize, character, and talent, than that country could boast of while under the Moors.

Should a revolution break out in Spain, they will, in all probability, be permitted to fight it out amongst themselves, as interference is somewhat dangerous, and invading armies will have to encounter a very determined spirit; and the mountains afford safe retreats, from which an enemy can be greatly annoyed.—N. Y. Eve. Star.

Donna Maria de Gloria.—It is stated, in the English papers, that this extraordinary product of legitimacy, has rejected the proposals of the Duke de Nemours, and openly avowed a decided preference for the Duke de Leuchtemberg. She must be a premature little sprig of royalty, to fall in love at so early an age. But we presume persons of that class come to maturity sooner than the vulgar. There are some curious instances of prematurity in Tristram Shandy, and the whimsical author cites the case of the great scholar Lipsius, who composed a work the very day he was born. But these instances are not so well authenticated as the preference of little Donna Maria for the fortunate Duke of Leuchtemberg.—N. Y. Courier.

The citizens of North Carolina have very decidedly voted, as far as returns have been received, for amending the Constitution of the State—17,763 votes for, and 778 against amendment.

At Saint Sebastian, in Spain, at a recent bull fight, a three years old bull, after having killed no fewer than 17 horses, was mortally wounded by a Picadore. In the agonies of death he leaped over the barrier amongst the spectators, killed one man, and injured many others, by trampling them under foot. A second combat was then given for the benefit of the sufferers.

A Pointed Joke.—A sportsman, by touching his horse near the withers with his whip, taught him to kneel immediately. When shooting, and a dog came to the point, he made the horse kneel, and persuaded those present that the horse was an excellent pointer. A gentleman having purchased the gelding, was fording the river with him, when, having touched his withers he was true to the touch, and down he dropped in the stream, and soused his new master in the water. The latter, in a great passion, asked the former owner what he meant by selling him a horse that played him such a trick in the water? "Oh!" said the other, "you bought him as a pointer, at the time he went on his knees, he was pointing at a salmon."

NEW YORK MARKET, October 5.

The transactions that we have heard of are 1,400 bags Rio, on terms not known; 300 bags do. at 13 to 13 1-2c. all the above of the new crop; 1,000 bags do. on terms not known; 7 to 800 bags Manilla, to arrive, at 14 cts.; 200 bags Java at 13 1-2 cts.; 1,500 bags Porto Cabello, on terms not known, and 100 bags Laguayra at 13 1-2 cents.

FLOUR—The supplies throughout the week have been large, and though there has been a liberal demand, prices drooped towards the close. $5 62 to 5 68 are the highest prices obtained for any description of western brands.

GRAIN—There is a fair demand for western Wheat, and sales have been made at $1 16 a 1 18.

MOLASSES—The market is dull, and the supplies coastwise have been large. About 600 hhds. in all have been sold since our last, at 36 cts. for English Island; 34 cts. for Cuba, and 38 cts. for New Orleans.

SUGAR—There is but little doing in this article. The transactions of the week are between 2 and 300 boxes brown Cuba at 8 3-4 to 9 cts.; some white do. at 9 1-2 to 10 1-2 cts., and about 100 hhds. Porto Rico at 8 1-4 to 9 1-2 cts.

JOHN GRAHAM,

PIANO FORTES.

MR. TAYLOR respectfully announces to the citizens of Pittsburgh, that he has just received an assortment of PIANO FORTES, from the celebrated manufactory of Robert Nunns, Clark, and Co. (late R. & W. Nunns,) of New York, which he offers to the public at a fair price, and liberal terms.

The instruments of this most extensive establishment have (for quality and volume of tone, and for materials and workmanship) received the decided approbation of the most distinguished professors of this country and Europe. The manufacturers therefore feel confident in resting their claims to public patronage upon the intrinsic merits of the Piano Fortes themselves.

FLUTES.

Also, a few of 'Taylor's approved' Flutes; these instruments are well worth the attention of the Amateures of the Flute.

☞Ladies and Gentlemen are invited to call and examine the above instruments, at Cook and Schoyer's (late Sylvester's) store, corner of Wood and Third streets, where they will remain but a short time, Mr. Taylor's stay in this place being limited. Oct. 7, 1833.

Mechanics' Magazine, and Register of Improvements and Inventions. To the Mechanics of the United States—In this populous and enlightened country, almost every description of persons can obtain knowledge and amusement connected with their peculiar pursuits, through the medium of the Journal or Magazine, especially devoted to their interests. The Theologian, the Farmer, the Philosopher, the Sportsman, and even the Plough Boy, has each his Journal, where he can find a record of the passing events of the day, connected with his peculiar avocations and recreations. Hitherto, the Mechanics (who form a large and most important portion of the community) have had no Journal, to which they could turn, with the certainty of finding that information they desire, no periodical of which they could say: 'This is ours, and for us.' In the hope that the attempt to supply such a want at a price so reasonable as to be within the reach of all, will meet with your active support, the subscriber proposes to publish, on the first day of each month, a Mechanics' Magazine. It will contain a well digested selection of the most useful and interesting articles in the London Mechanics' Magazine, London Register of Arts and Sciences, Repertory of Inventions, Library of Useful Knowledge, Journal of the Franklin Institute, and other works, connected with the arts and manufactures, published in this country and in Europe, accompanied with numerous and well executed Engravings. Its pages will be open for the communications of all, and especially for those of the practical artisan, to whose interest it will be particularly devoted. The Mechanics' Magazine will contain, also, a due portion of the occurrences of the month, Scientific and Literary Reviews of Books, Anecdotes, Economical Receipts, Reports of the state of Mechanics' Institutions, and other Scientific Societies in this state and other countries. To be published monthly. Each succeeding number will contain 64 pages, handsomely printed, and stitched in a neat cover. Six numbers will form a volume, for which an index and title page will be supplied, and also a Portrait of some distinguished Mechanic, as a Frontispiece. Terms, $3 per annum, in advance.

DOCTOR ROBERT'S
☞ WELCH MEDICAMENTUM. ☜

FOR the cure of Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Jaundice, Cholic, Fever and Ague, Dysentery, Headach, Loss of Appetite, Flatulence, Hypochondria, Hysterics, Dropsical Complaints, and Heartburn, It also prevents all Bilious disorders, and removes habitual Costiveness, Asthma, Strangury, Gravel, Rheumatism, Gout, and Impurities of the Blood.

A person who uses this Medicamentum will not require the use of the lancet, or any means of the healing art. It restores and revives the animal spirits, invigorates the system, removes nervous tremors, obtunds rheumatic and anthritic pains, and prevents their return. It cleanses the stomach of all morbid humors, which cause indigestion, acidities, headach, and lowness of spirits; cures all bilious disorders, and all cholics of the stomach and bowels, almost immediately; inspires cheerfulness; gives comfort to the dropsical; takes away palpitation of the heart; gives circulation to the blood; restores bloom to the sallow or sickly cheek, and plumpness to the meagre habit; purges without pain, and banishes all cause of fever of every kind. It acts on the stomach, that great reservoir of the human system, a diseased state of which causes all diseases. No alteration in the usual habits of life is required, but the abstaining from distilled ardent spirits.

CERTIFICATE,
From Rev. Derick Lansing, D. D., Pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church in Utica.

UTICA, Jan. 6, 1830.

To Dr. Hitchcock.—Dear Sir: I have always been one of the number of those who have placed little confidence in nostrums or specifics, and for this reason, although I saw your advertisement of the Welch Medicamentum, I could not bring my mind to consent to use it. My sufferings, from indigestion, during the past summer, were so severe, as materially to affect my comfort, and my capacity for usefulness. I have reason to thank you, sir, that, on hearing of the state of my health, you kindly sent me your Medicamentum. I have taken it faithfully, and with entire success. I have not been visited with one of those turns of distress, which before were weekly periodical, since I began to take your valuable medicine. Could I receive the same relief which I have hitherto experienced, on condition of taking it for life, I should cheerfully comply with such condition. Your's, very truly, D. C. LANSING.

ANTI-DYSPEPTIC ELIXER.

ONE of the most agreeable and efficacious Medicines ever discovered for the permanent cure of those chronic states of derangement of the stomach, constituting that miserable disease called Dyspepsia.

The basis of this Elixer is vegetables, and perfectly innocent in its operation; it destroys that sour state of the stomach, the instant it is taken, and stops the morbid secretion, by giving strength to the muscular fibre of that important organ, by which means the peristaltic motion of the intestines is increased, and the costiveness obviated; a new action is given to the system, which puts an end to a train of distressing nervous sensations.

Another form of the disease in which the Elixer is admirably calculated to relieve, is the decline of fever, where the stomach will not bear the ordinary strengthening medicines indicated in such cases, it has the surprising effect of giving vigor, and restoring the natural secretions of the body, without increasing the febrile state. Not the least danger is to be apprehended from exposure to cold, while under the use of this medicine, nor will it interrupt necessary employment of the patient a single hour.

☞A number of cases of cures performed by the Anti-Dyspeptic Elixer in the vicinity of Pittsburgh can be given.

GEO. W. CARPENTER'S
COMPOUND SYRUP OF LIVERWORT,

A SAFE and Valuable Medicine for Coughs, Spitting of Blood, Consumption, and Liver Complaints.

Most of the medicines made use of for the above diseases are of a stimulating nature, composed generally of Resins and Balsams, in alcoholic solutions, which, although sometimes givingt emporary relief, in almost every instance where they are freely used, aggravate the disease, and reduce the strength of the patient.

This article possesses superior advantages over these preparations, its action being of a tonic, invigorating and strengthening nature, thus overcoming the disease by promoting expectoration, and gradually increasing the strength of the patient, and thus, without being attended with any unpleasant effects: it also agrees with the stomach, in a cases, and is a pleasant medicine to take.

PATENT PLANING MACHINE.—The right to use this valuable machine, invented and patented by William Woodworth, and known as Woodworth's Patent Planing Machine, may be obtained on application to the subscriber for the counties of Allegheny, Butler, Beaver, Washington, Green, Fayette, Somerset, Cambria, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, M'Kean, Warren, Venango, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie, in the State of Pennsylvania. That part of Maryland lying west of the Blue Ridge; all that part of Virginia lying west of the Blue Ridge, except the county of Ohio. The whole of the state of Ohio except the counties of Hamilton, Butler, and Montgomery. The whole of the state of Kentucky, except the counties of Jefferson, Boone, Oldham, Gallatin, and Campbell. The whole of Indiana, except the counties of Floyd, Clark, Jefferson, Dearborn, and Switzerland. The whole of the state of Illinois, and the territory of Michigan. Rights to use the machine in that part of the United States, named above, will be sold by the single county or in larger districts. As it is presumed that no one will purchase without seeing the machine at work, a description of it is deemed unnecessary. Should any person, however, wish to purchase, and find it inconvenient to visit the places where it is in operation, a machine will be furnished, warranted to plane, tongue and groove, and bring to an exact width and thickness, a white pine board of 12 feet long, and of any width from 1 to 14 inches, in one minute and ten seconds, or an oak board of the same dimensions in 2 minutes and 10 seconds. Machines may be seen at work in the cities of New Orleans, Washington, Philadelphia, New York, Boston, and others at the south and east, at Wheeling, Virginia, and at the saw mill of Messrs. Irwin & Heron, in this city.

Persons desiring to purchase will have the certificates of scientific and practical men who have seen it at work, in the different places in which it has been put up, forwarded to them. They give their opinion as to the great value of the invention, state the time they have seen boards dressed by this machine, and describe the quality of the work as compared with that performed by hand labor.
